CREAM CITY FILLED WITH CLUB WOMEN

General Federation Opens its Biennial Session in Milwaukee Today

GREAT CROWD PRESENT

Matters of Importance to be Considered During Progress of the Session.

THREE BIG SOCIAL EVENTS

Milwaukee, June 4—[Special Telegram]—The annual convention of the General Federation of Woman's club opened in Milwaukee this morning at nine o'clock, with a meeting of the board of directors. At 11 o'clock there was a meeting of councils and the topics discussed were "Cooperation Between Club Women and Wage-Earning Women," "Reorganization of the General Federation."

Last night and this morning there arrived a perfect torrent of women from all parts of the United States. Women are very much in evidence at the principal hotels. Poor, meek men have no show whatever and strangers among them come pretty near having no place in which to lay their heads, for the hotel accommodations have been entirely absorbed by the women. They swarm about the corridors and bustle about the parlors and an ordinary man is somewhat abashed by their numbers and the businesslike way in which they conduct themselves.

Like a Swell Reception.

People in search of the short-haired dowdishly dressed woman will not find her in the crowd so far as it is yet in evidence. On the contrary, it has every appearance of a swell reception, and if the dresses did not come from Paris they look it. Everybody wears a badge, some of them several.

Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker presided at the meeting this afternoon. Reports were read from state presidents. There are, according to the 1899 report, 2,253 clubs in the federation, with a total membership of 140,905, but the increase since then brings the membership up to 150,000.

As part of the membership is included in that of the state federation the number of delegates is 1,506.

Instructions For Speakers.

How to walk upstairs and how to walk down again is being taught the women who will read papers and give reports. A class has met three times daily in the last few days and have drilled in the art of appearing on platforms gracefully. They are learning about the foot that is to be put forward first, about the skirt that must be lifted with one or two hands as the speaker's place is approached, and they are told how the head must be carried in the marching and climbing.

Program of the Meeting

The general session of the convention will begin tomorrow and will be held at the Alhambra theater. Committee rooms are fitted up on the upper floor of the building, and everything is in readiness. The section meetings will be divided between the Davidson and Pabst theaters, with a report session at Pythian hall in the Alhambra. The council meeting tonight is at the Athenæum, and the art committee and library bureau are holding forth at the public museum and library building. This scattered the convention pretty well over the city.

Every visiting club woman will receive invitations to two of the thirteen private receptions to be given on Thursday afternoon, and the delegates will be received by states. The Milwaukee College Endowment association will be "at home" in the Plankinton house parlors from this morning until next Saturday, serving tea from 4 to 6 o'clock, and will have committees on hand to welcome visitors at all other hours. The Wisconsin state federation will keep open house in the club rooms of the Plankinton.

The general federation has indorsed the work of the Consumers' league, which is trying to solve by methods of its own the problem of securing fair treatment for factory and shop girls.

Mrs. Lowe is comfortable enconced at the Plankington house and she expressed herself as delighted with the warmth of her greeting here and the elaborate preparations made by the local club women for the biennial. She must have heard some of the talk concerning a movement to force the presidential nomination upon her, for she was very noncommittal concerning it, simply saying: "I am not a candidate for re-election."

President Sums Up

She is a woman of charming personal appearance, graceful, with a sweet southern accent and a delightful personality.

"What do I expect from the biennial?" she said. "Well, I can sum it up. A great deal of pleasure and profit. There will be a goodly representation of southern women here. Of course the south is conservative and the club movement may not be as actively developed there as in the east, but the club sentiment is growing all the time and when our women are progressive they go way beyond anyone else.

"Of course it is generally conceded that there must be reorganization in many features of the general federation. The by laws must be altered, but as to a general upheaval of the existing order of things I do not care to say anything. As president of the federation I cannot well do so."

Taylor Not a Candidate.

Indianapolis June 4 (Special Telegram.)—W. S Taylor, it is now said, has finally decided that he will not be a candidate for governor of Kentucky, yielding to John W. Yerkes. Taylor will not attend the national convention unless assured by Gov. Stone that he will be protected.

PARIS SHOW A FRAUD

Prominent New Yorker Warns Americans that the World's Fair is a Mass of "Fakes."

New York, June 4—Robert B. Roosevelt, the uncle of Governor Roosevelt, fresh from the Paris exposition arrived home on the Holland line steamship Statedam today. "I am not a cynic and am usually easily pleased," said Mr. Roosevelt when seen at his residence, 57 Fifth avenue, "but that exposition is the worst fake and fraud that was ever perpetrated on mankind.

The papers were right when they said recently that the American building at the exposition was unsafe. It is unsafe. I don't care what is said to the contrary, and I want to tell the people of New York that it is.

"Unless you have been to the exposition you can't understand how Americans are being robbed in Paris this summer. Really it is the duty of some one to warn Americans to keep away from the exposition and I am going to take up that duty.

"In the first place it is worse than a Bowery—not as interesting as the most uninteresting show on the Bowery. Everything about it is a fake. I have read lots in the papers about the wonderful spyglass that showed the moon. I went to see this spyglass and found it pointed to a magic lantern. I detected the fake at once but I went on as did all others and paid another franc to see the next fake.

"Before I went to the exposition I calculated that a person could see the whole show for 360 francs. I discovered before I left that it cost just 1,500 francs to see every fake."

AWFUL FAMINE SCENES

Shocking Conditions Now Prevail in India—Camps Swept by Cholera and Small Pox.

Bombay, June 4—Louis Klopsch of New York, publisher of The Christian Herald, who arrived here May 14 and made a tour of the famine stricken district, makes the following statement regarding his observations:

"Everywhere I met the most shocking and revolting scenes. The famine camps have been swept clear by cholera and small pox. Fugitives, scattering in all direction and stricken in flight, were found dying in the fields and roadside ditches. The numbers at one relief station were increasing at the rate of 10,000 per day.

"At Godhera there were 3,000 deaths from cholera within four days and at Dohad 2,500 in the same period. The hospital death rate at Godhera and Dohad was 90 per cent. The condition of the stricken simply beggars description. Air and water were impregnated with an intolerable stench of corpses. At Ahmedabad the death rate in the poorhouse was 10 per cent. Every day I saw new patients placed face to face with corpses. In every fourth cot there was a corpse.

"The thermometer read 115 in the shade. Millions of flies hovered around the uncleaned disentery patients.

"The government is doing its best but the native officials are hopelessly and heartlessly inefficient. Between the famine, the plague and the cholera, the conditions of Bombay presidency is now worse than it has been at any previous period in the Nineteenth century. The spirit of the people is broken and there may be something still worse to come when the monsoon breaks."

SENATE TO HOLD NIGHT SESSIONS

Effort to Expedite Business so a Final Adjournment Can Be Taken Wednesday Evening.

Washington, June 4—[Special Telegram]—The senate met at ten o'clock this morning to expedite buriness so as to secure a final adjournment Wednesday. Unanimous leave was granted for evening sessions to consider the pension bills and conference reports. Mason offered another Boer resolution and will speak on it tomorrow. Bill passed authorizing designation of one more bank for the Philippines, Porto Rico and Cuba.

"Do you believe in these open-winter prophets?" "No; I don't believe the cold weather is over until my wife stops telling me we are out of coal."—Stray Stories.

FEAR ROOSEVELT ON THE TICKET

PLANS TO STAMPEDE CONVENTION IN HIS BEHALF.

He is Not President McKinley's Choice—Only Way to Stop His Nomination is for the Administration to Name a Man—Dolliver in High Favor.

Washington, D. C., June 4—In casting up the vice presidential situation, most of the leaders say frankly that Dolliver's name has aroused more positive enthusiasm than that of any other name recently suggested. The brilliant young Iowa representative has an abundance of friends both in the house and senate, who knows not only his eloquence, which everybody knows, but his breadth, dignity and general ability. Among members of congress there is but little hesitation in declaring that Dolliver would furnish the exact qualities needed in the campaign—youth, enthusiasm and oratorical powers of an unusual character. It is noticeable that of all the names suggested that of Dolliver seems to remain longer, and the mention of his name has developed into the proportions of a genuine boom here in Washington, which can hardly be said for anyone else.

Yet, in spite of all this, there is a superior current everywhere today among representatives, senators and officials, to the effect that after all the Roosevelt nomination cannot be prevented by him or by anybody else. Men usually supposed to speak for the administration say frankly neither the President nor Senator Hanna wants Roosevelt on the ticket. Nevertheless, these assumed representatives of the administration say they fear the New York governor is planning to stampede the convention in his own behalf. In some quarters it is asserted there is only one way to prevent the convention ignoring Roosevelt's repeated declinations, and that is to have the administration agree on a candidate and let the fact be known in advance. It is quite evident that a convention not only ready but eager to nominate Major McKinley by acclamation would not willingly offend him by giving him a running mate he did not approve of, but it is said the President's wishes must be conveyed in some authorative manner or the convention will be swept off its feet for Roosevelt.

As this is the only way Senator Platt could get rid of the governor, and as Platt is an adept at sudden manipulation, the revival of the Roosevelt talk within the last twenty-four hours, particularly in New York, is deemed significant. Outside of Roosevelt, Dolliver has more of a following than anybody else, and some of the President's closest friends are the most outspoken for the eloquent Iowan.

BARBER WHO GETS $50,000 PER YEAR

The Round, Smooth Face of President McKinley Shows the Work of an Expert.

Washington, June 4—Undoubtedly the best paid barber in the world is the man who shaves President McKinley. He is paid $50,000 a year, but his job is exclusive, and he shaves only the President. Many people who look on the round, smooth face of the President of the United States, who always looks fresh as a rose, must have wondered about his barber. The President has a man come in for hair cutting, shampooing, and similiar attentions, but when it comes to artistic shaving the President trusts no one but his faithful barber for years, William McKinley.

It has been frequently said by cynics and manufacturers of barbers' chairs that men take their lives and their razors in hand together. This is scarcely true of the President. Not only does he shave, himself, but he does it with an experiness and nerve which make the ordinary man shudder to think of. The President's face is remarkably regular in contour, and in spite of his vast responsibilities is free from most of the furrows cares bring to other men. Members of the family are authority for the statement that the President does not need a mirror at all. He lathers his face and then proceeds to walk about the room, talking, looking out of the window, and only stopping to try the razor on the shaving paper.

There are millions of men who can shave themselves without drawing blood and others who cannot trust themselves with a razor, but it is believed that the President is one of the extremely few who can shave without a mirror and preserve their own lives.

KANSAS WHEAT READY TO CUT

Yield Expected to be the Largest in the History of the State

Topeka, Kan., June 4—The farmers of Kansas will begin this week to harvest the largest wheat crow in the history of the state. Secretary Coburn of the state board of agriculture says:

"The crop this year will be the heaviest ever known. In 1892 Kansas had 3,800,000 acres of wheat and raised 70,000,000 bushels, an average of eighteen bushels to the acre. This year the winter wheat acreage is 4,685,819, as estimated by the growers, and the average yield will be larger than that of 1892. The crop in general was never in better condition.

BOXERS CONTINUE THEIR OUTRAGES

PARTY OF EUROPEANS ROUTED WITH SEVERE LOSS.

Austrian and German Guards Have Arrived at Peking Without Incident—Crisis Imminent in the Chinese Government Over the Question of Suppressing the Boxers.

Pekin, June 4—[Special Cablegram]—The Austrian and German guards arrived without incident. All but nine refugees from Pao Ting Fu, who were attacked by seven hundred boxers have been rescued. One woman is among the missing. A crisis in the government is reported imminent as a result of the disagreement over the suppression of the boxers.

Routed the Europeans.

Tien Tsien, June 4—[Special Cablegram]—A party of Cossacks who went in search of the missing refugees from Pao Ting Fu, encountered the boxers who attacked the Europeans and routed them with severe loss. The Russians lost one officer and three men wounded.

Boxer Horrors in China.

Tien-Tsin, June 4—It is reported from Peking that Mr. Stevenson of the Church of England mission at Yem Ching, has been murdered, and that Mr. Norman of the same mission is missing.

Six men and two women, French and Belgian refugees from Pao Ting Fu, have arrived here. Nine are missing. A body of mounted Cossacks have gone in search of the missing and to take food to Yan Liu Ching for the relief of the party there.

ANOTHER MISSIONARY IS SLAIN.

One Dead and Another Is Missing in China.

Tien-Tsin, June 4.—It is reported from Peking that Mr. Stevenson of the Church of England mission at Yem Ching, has been murdered, and that Mr. Norman of the same mission is missing. It is reported from Yung-Ching that the boxers have killed the wife of a native evangelist.

New York, June 4.—The World prints an interview with Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister at Washington, on the "Boxer" troubles, in which the distinguished celestial says:

"I concur with Count Cassini in the belief that the disturbances in China will be of short duration. I do not attach much importance to the 'Boxers.' There have been riots in China, as elsewhere, far more serious than the present trouble, and they blew over without any permanently injurious results."

Tientsin, June 4.—The French consulate has received information from priests at Pao-Ting-Fu that 30 foreigners, including six women and a child, who were attempting to escape from Pao-Ting-Fu, to Tientsin, in boats, were attacked by over 700 "Boxers," armed with rifles and sears. Four of the foreigners were killed and a like number wounded. They have reached a point ten miles from here, and an expedition is proceeding to their relief.

Troops' Coming Not Resented.

Pekin, June 4:—American and other foreign guards, numbering 340, arrived here in the midst of the dragon festival. The streets were unusually crowded and though the people were greatly interested in the annual spectacle, no manifestation of hostility was made. The presence of the guards has already had a marked effect upon the bearing of the Chinese toward foreigners. The excitement in the adjacent country has been much allayed, but many Christian refugees are still flocking into the city. The "Boxers" are evidently moving afield. Unfortunately no leaders of the "Boxers" have been arrested, though their capture would have been easy. All the government has done has been to occupy the scenes of the disturbances, and no real repressive measures have been taken.

ELECTION IN OREGON TODAY

Result of the Voting Will Decide Who Is to Be Senator

Portland, Oregon, June 4—The campaign in Oregon is ended and the election is being held today. The republicans claim the state will go republican by the largest majority it has ever given. In the 1st congressional district Tongue's plurality may be small, but the chairman of the republican state central committee is confident that both republican congressmen will be re-elected and that the legislature will be republican by a large majority. The chairman of the democratic organization, R. S. Sheridan says: "It is hard to tell what the result will be. We are not making any claims as to the size of the majority, but we think our candidates will be elected."

Old Missions in Texas.

There are a number of old missions in San Antonia that were built by the Franciscan monks, still picturesque in their ruins. They are located just outside the city, and are known as the Conception, San Jose de Aguayo and San Juan Capistrano. The missions are always attractive for the tourist, and of late an effort is being made to keep them in repair.

T. L. ACHESON is on the sick list.

BIGGEST PLATE EVER CAST

Thirty-Thousand-Ton Chunk of Armor for Battleship Wisconsin

Pittsburg, Pa., June 4—What is probably the largest single armor plate ever made at either Bethlehem or Homestead was shipped on Saturday to San Francisco, to be used in the construction of the battleship Wisconsin, which is building there.

The plate will become the port plate of a turret on the vessel and is made on a new principle, being cut at an angle instead of being the arc of a circle, the idea being to better deflect a shot. The plate weighs thirty tons and cost over $12,000.

It was pressed at Bethlehem, as the armor press at Homestead was unequal to the job, and returned to Homestead for finishing.

MAY END THE WAR IN THE PHILIPPINES

WELL FOUNDED REPORT THAT AGUINALDO IS DEAD.

Shot From His Horse by One of Maj. Marsh's Command—In Saddle Bags of Fallen Officer Were Documents Belonging to the Insurgent Leader.

Manila, June 4 (Special Cablegram).—Gen. Funston, who is chasing the rebels who captured Capt. Roberts, engaged a force of Filipinos twenty five miles from San Miquel yesterday. Funston had twenty-five men, of whom Capt. Capt. Godfrey and one private were killed. Details are lacking, and it is not known whether Roberts and the six men with him were rescued. Capt. Godfrey is from New York.

Manila, June 4—The United States Philippine commission reached Manila from Hongkong yesterday, and shortly after its arrival came news which may simplify its work of pacifying the islands.

Additional details of an engagement between the insurgents and Major Marsh's command make it seem probable that Aguinaldo has been killed or dangerously wounded. An insurgent officer was shot from his horse when Marsh's men were hot on the trail of the rebel leader, and in the saddlebags belonging to the wounded officer were found documents which belonged to Aguinaldo. The body of the wounded or dead man was carried away by his followers.

May End the War.

Judge Taft, president of the Philippine commission, on his arrival, made a declaration which, in the event of Aguinaldo's death may do much in influencing the insurgents to discontinue the war.

"When the Filipinos lay down their arms we shall give them all a hearing on the policy to be pursued and the reforms to be initiated," he said.

Judge Taft also declared that General MacArthur would be continued as the military and executive head of the government until such time as the islands are pacified.

Encounter with Aguinaldo

The detailed story of the encounter in which Aguinaldo probably was wounded or killed comes by way of Vigan. Major March, with his detachment of the Thirty-third Regiment, overtook what is believed to have been Aguinaldo's party on May 19 at La Gat, about 100 miles northeast of Vagan. The American's killed or wounded an officer supposed to be Aguinaldo, whose body was removed by his followers.

REV. HILLIS SCORES RICH BRIDAL ROBES

Pastor of Plymouth Church Says Gown and Not Woman Is the Thing At Weddings

New York, June 4—The bride of today comes to the altar burdened under a donkey load of tulle; she is simply an incident to the marriage ceremony; but it is the gown that is the thing. How different the simplicity of the Grecian maidens, who put the pieces of her white garment over her shoulders and a rose in her breast, and went to her nuptials in grace and beauty. The woman was the thing then, today it is the dress."

Dr. Hillis preached in Plymouth church yesterday morning on the "Simplicity and Breadth of Christ as a Religious Teacher." He deplored the tendency to the renewal of belief in the teachings of the old philosophers, and counseled his hearers to stand fast by their belief in Christ's simple creed.

"In the church we have no end of rubbish and theological ragpickers, whereas Christ's teachings are so simple that a child can comprehend them. Then, too, the churches are divided between little water and much water for baptism, white gowns versus black gowns, and complex creeds versus the simple creed of Christ."

Guns Regarded as Devils.

Much superstition has been attached to artillery by those nations which are pagan. The Burmese and Malays regarded their guns as devils, and strove to enhance the killing power of their weapons by constructing their cannon in the form of dragons.

PRETORIA BOERS ARE IN A PANIC

Burghers are Whipped in a Great Battle North of Johannesburg.

BANKS MAKE A PROTEST

Will Not Allow Transvaal Chiefs to Seize and Carry Out All the Gold.

ARMY MOVED TO LEYDENBURG

London, June 4—[Special Cablegram]—A Lourenco Marques dispatch says that Pretoria has been invested by the British and that the city will surrender as soon as a demand is made.

London, June 4—[Special Cablegram]—Advices from Pretoria say that Commander Botha arrived at midnight Thursday after three days and nights in the saddle. He reported fearful fighting for three days east of Orange Grove, a few miles north of Johannesburg, which was disadvantageous to the Boers. Botha says if he had had half of the British force they never would have got near Pretoria. The panic and despondency among the Burghers had made the task a difficult one. The banks have united in protest against the seizure of gold and they say any attempt will be met with armed resistance.

Carrying Out Much Gold

Lorenco, Marquee, June 4—[Special Cablegram]—Transvaal Secretary Reitz and family sailed today on the Steamer Bundesrath with thirty-six boxes of bar gold. Michael Davitt was also a passenger. He said it was too late this time to assist the Transvaal, but when the next war broke out he hoped to be in time to tender his services.

Pretoria Still a Mystery

London, June 4, 3 a. m.—Notwithstanding the seven messages from Lord Roberts issued by the War office Saturday and Sunday, the Pretoria mystery remains as deep as ever. So far as the newspapers are advised there is no direct news from Pretoria of a later date than Thursday evening.

This is to the effect that the town is in a state of panic. The government, in order to prevent the stores falling into British hands, told the Burghers to help themselves, which they did with alacrity.

While the city itself is ready to surrender, 10,000 Boers with General Botha in command, are south of Pretoria, waiting to fight once more before fleeing.

Kruger is now at Machadorp.

Lord Roberts, however, has nothing to say regarding the military movements which followed the capitulation of Johannesburg. Several London papers profess to believe that Pretoria is now actually in British hands, but it was only an assumption, based on the reports that the town was ready to surrender.

Predicts Long Rebellion

Berlin, June 4—Dr. Reitz, the Transvaal State Secretary, says in the Cologne Gazette that England will require a permanent garrison of 50,000 soldiers in the Transvaal, and that "rebellion may be expected for centuries." He believes that many Boers will trek to German South Africa.

MAY YET DEFEND PRETORIA

Boers Seem Encouraged and British Expect Battle.

London, June 4.—The soldiers trekking back toward Pretoria, some of them fresh from the fight with Gen. Ian Hamilton, would have brought a new element into the situation and would probably overrule the peace committee, taking the direction of affairs out of their hands. If this has happened the British may, as the Daily Chronicle says, see some "hard fighting before the British flag flies over Pretoria, for even if the Boers held only the three forts standing close together on the hills south of the town they would be in a position to stand a siege."

The Boers, according to a special dispatch from Lorenzo Marques, have re-entered the northeastern territory of the Free State and are engaged with the British near Ventersburg and Harrismith.

A dispatch from Vryburg, dated May 30, says:

"During the occupation of this place by the Boers they flogged the natives for slight offenses. A whip and several cords knotted and salted were found at the police station. A boy who brought a letter to a woman received twenty-five lashes, and another, who sympathized with him, received fifteen."

SPEAKS WELL OF JOHN M. WHITEHEAD

Is a Cool, Strong Man Who Makes a Good Impression Wherever He Goes.

The Chicago Times-Herald in today's issue gives a review of the gubernatorial situation in Wisconsin as regards the nomination by the forthcoming republican state convention. In speaking of the candidates it says this about John M. Whitehead:

Mr. Whitehead is one of those cool, strong men who make a favorable impression wherevea they go. A man of force and strength of character that impresses the average voter as that of a "good man to tie to." Mr. Whitehead is a product of Illinos, a Yale graduate and was admitted to the bar in Chicago in 1880. He came to Janesville in 1883, which city has since been his home. He is now serving his first term as senator from his district.

In the two sessions of the legislature in which he served he was known as one of the strong men of the upper house. He is a student of the problems which have occupied so much of the time of the people of the state in recent years, and was instrumental in securing the passage of the tax commission law which has already proved of great advantage to the state, though the commission is but yet on the threshold of its usefulness. Mr. Whitehead has an enthusiastic following in his own district and many friends throughout the other parts of the state.

From present indications Messrs. Bradford, La Follette and Whitehead will be in the lead at the beginning of the balloting, with Messrs Jones, Stebbins and Rogers waiting their opportunity when the break comes.

A Nursery Measure.

The yard measure is a new and semi-useful nursery accessory. Of course, the baby could be measured with a common everyday footrule or tape measure, but the fastidious mamma thinks growth is too important a subject to be treated in a matter of fact way, and she measures Teddy's or Marjorie's inches with a long, broad, flat piece of wood which has inches and feet plainly marked on one side and pretty pictures and verses painted on the other side.

One Shot in St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 4.—Strike sympathizers attacked a car on the Tower Grove line of the Transit company, throwing rocks and stocks. An unknown man leaned out of a car window and fired a shot from a revolver. The bullet lodged in the breast of a boy named Peter Frank, who was sitting on the doorstep of his father's house watching the demonstration. Physicians say the wound is fatal. The police dispersed the rioters, but the shooter was permitted to escape.

Would Not Suffer So Again for Fifty Times Its Price.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning I felt so weak I could hardly work. I went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night for fifty times its price.—G. H. Wilson, Liveryman, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale at Smiths' Pharmacy, Kodak agents, next P. O.

A Card of Thanks.

Smiles and Tears.

It was a beautiful myth which the Greeks had concerning the tears and smiles of April. The Greeks, with genuine poetic insight, personified nature in the figure of a lovely woman. Her they represented as weeping violently in the spring for a new green dress with wraps to match. And having got these things, as was of course inevitable, she smiled. Anybody who understands the dynamic force of woman's tears will recognize at once the singular propriety of ascribing to the action of these the tremendous phenomena of the vernal season.—Detroit Journal.

JOHN DAY LAUNCH BOTTOM OF LAKE.

Named After Former Janesville Boy Who Met Death in the Same Lake.

At Madison Saturday morning at 7 o'clock the coaching launch, John Day, sank in the waters of Lake Mendota. It is believed it was due to the heavy gale which prevailed and that the high waves striking the boat, filled her with water. Although some are of the opinion that the anchor line was too short, so that the launch did not have enough play. She now lies about 150 feet from the shore in about 15 feet of water. As soon as the lake is calm means will be devised to set her afloat again. If the launch is not raised within a reasonable length of time, the crews will be sent east earlier than usual.

The launch was named in honor of John Day, a former Janesville boy, who was drowned while attending the State University at Madison.

Last fall I sprained my left hip while handling some heavy boxes. The doctor I called on said it was a slight strain and would soon be well, but it grew worse and the doctor then said I had rheumatism. It continued to grow worse and I could hardly get about to work. I went to a drug store and the druggist recommended me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I tried it and one-half of a 4-cent bottle cured me entirely. I now recommend it to all my friends.—F. A. Babcock, Erie, Pa. It is for sale by Smith's Pharmacy, kodak agents, next to postoffice.

L'ENVOI.

When earth's last picture is painted and the tubes are twisted and dried,
When the oldest colors have faded and the youngest critic has died,
We shall rest, and, faith, we shall need it, lie down for an aeon or two
Till the Master of all good workmen shall set us to work anew.

And those that were good shall be happy, they shall sit in a golden chair,
They shall splash at a ten leagued canvas with brushes of comets' hair,
They shall find real saints to draw from—Magdalene, Peter and Paul—
They shall work for an age at a sitting and never be tired at all!

And only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame,
And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame,
But each for the joy of the working, and each in his separate star
Shall draw the thing as he sees it for the God of things as they are!

JANE ANNE.

A Story of South Wales.

"Stop you here, come the fair," said the mistress persuasively, pausing for a moment in her work.

"I won't," said Jane Anne sturdily, and her answer was accompanied by the harsh clatter of a milkpan upon the stones. The mistress sat feathering in the doorway of the house place, and the white down from the half plucked goose which lay across her knee blew about in the light breeze and settled in her gray hair.

"Be you going to be married, Jane Anne?"

"Yiss; Johnnie George an me did think to if so be as he can hier hisself to a place what has a cottage."

"Well, well," said the mistress wearily, "I do wonder at you, I do, an him so flighty."

"Ain't more flighty than most men be," said she, rubbing a milk pail briskly with coarse red sand, "an anyways I will learn him to be steady ownct we be married."

The mistress sighed. She knew it was futile to argue with Jane Anne once she had made up her mind. Jane Anne, she also knew, was a treasure as farm servants go and was not likely to be replaced in a hurry.

A day or so after Jane Anne left the little mountain farm early in the morning while the mists yet hung white on the hillsides. She had a long way to walk to the country town where the hiring and pleasure fairs are held twice a year. She tucked up her skirts, for the deep lanes, where the branches of tangled hazel and blackthorn met over her head, were damp and muddy with decaying leaves, and Jane Anne had on her best dress. She was a comely lass, with her rosy cheeks and bright eyes. The way was lonely, but as she descended to more populous regions she overtook another servant girl, also bound for the fair. "Morning, Pol," said Jane Anne pleasantly. "I thought your missus wass not let you go to the fair?"

"Yiss, so she did say, but I runned away," said the other, half awed at her own boldness. She had a timid, deprecating air. She looked as though she had been driven whither she would not all her life.

"I 'ouldn't go back neither if I was you," said Jane Anne. "You ain't got no spirit to let folks drive you like they does. I be going to be married," she added, with a blush.

"Lor!" said Pol. "There's lucky you be. An so many gals have 'onted to have Johnnie George. He be so good looking an so smart. There wass wan gal he wass keep company with 'fore he comed to Jenkinses, she did break her heart for him." Pol's voice was lowered and impressive, and Jane Anne listened with a dawning wonder.

"Yiss, sure," continued Pol, pleased by her companion's attention. "There's times she did go 'most crazy an fro'ed herself in the watter—yiss, indeed!"

"Be she dead?" asked Jane Anne gravely, and her bright face was clouded.

"Noa, I don't b'lieve what she be, but I heard say as she be bound for the churchyard, for he have broke her heart."

"I doan't believe in broken hearts myself," said Jane Anne, trying to shake off the unpleasant impression the other's words had left. "Hearts doan't break none so easy. Maybe they do crack sometimes like. But there, it is easy to talk! If Johnnie George hadn't took up with me, he 'ould have had somebody else. He is always a chap to go along wi' a gal. He'd never have kep' to that gal, she living miles away an over to Jenkinses. There iss not wan chap but what I could have had for the arsting," with a proud toss of her head, "but I liked Johnnie George best o' the lot, an I had him, an maybe if I doan't marry him now I shan't never."

At the town gates they met the fickle Johnnie George. He was radiant, but bashful, and had rather a sheepish air. Jane Anne promptly took possession of his earnings and, after dealing him out some small change for pleasuring, invested the rest in the savings bank.

"For if I doesn't," she said, "you'll spend it all or have it stole from yo' before night, an then what'll us keep house with?"

He had no answer to this problem, though he would have preferred to keep his money. He was in some awe of Jane Anne, but he admired and was proud of her. This off her mind, Jane Anne settled steadily to enjoy herself. Booths, wild beast shows, shooting galleries and cheap jack stalls filled the narrow, cobble paved streets of the usually quiet little town, while in a more open space near the church roundabouts and swing boats were attracting large crowds of farm lads and lasses. Above the din of shouts and laughter came half frightened, shrill screams from the girls in the swing boats and, half drowning it all, the constant roar of the orchestrone playing popular airs with untiring vigor. Jane Anne entered with zest into all the pleasures of the fair. Johnnie George thought he had never seen her so gay. But still the thought of the girl she had heard of that morning haunted her. As if in answer to her thoughts her eyes fell on a slight figure standing a little back from the crowd. She seemed to be alone, and she leaned against the church wall in a weary and listless attitude, but she was watching some one in the swings with close attention.

Jane Anne followed the direction of her eyes and saw they were fixed upon Johnnie George. She was about to cross over and speak to the girl, when the crowd moved, and she lost sight of her.

All day, amid the shifting, noisy crowd, Jane Anne kept a sharp lookout for her rival. It was getting dusk when she saw her again, and naphtha lights were beginning to flare on the cheap jacks' stalls. The crowd was getting rougher, noisier, more hilarious. Here and there a drunken man reeled across the street. The girl was standing near a fortune teller's tent, and Jane Anne left Johnnie George and went up to her.

"Yo' be a friend o' Johnnie George's?" said Jane Anne, accosting her abruptly.

The girl shrank back before Jane Anne's rough greeting. She was smaller than Jane Anne, with large, soft, pathetic eyes and very fair hair. She was pretty, but in a more fragile way than Jane Anne. She looked like a flower that had been beaten down by heavy rain.

"Tell yer fortune?" said the gypsy woman behind Jane Anne.

"Stop yo' here wan minute," said Jane Anne peremptorily to the fair haired girl.

"Yis," she said, turning to the gypsy; "look yo' sharp, an yo' shall say my fortune. Here be sixpence an doan't yo' say no stories, mind yo'."

The gypsy, a gayly dressed dark woman, with a villainous squint, took the sixpence and Jane's hand and, bending over it, with a divided attention and a roving eye for fresh clients, muttered a certain formula she had repeated many times that day. Jane Anne listened with strained attention. To her this was a very serious undertaking. It was not easy to make out the gypsy's gabble in the noisy street, and Jane Anne was used to slow Welsh-English and not this cockney romany lingo, but she managed to make out that she wns being promised a rich dark husband and many children and that she "would walk with many a lad before she found the right one."

"Do you want to marry Johnnie George?" asked Jane Anne when the fortune telling was concluded. The fair haired girl blushed furiously and turned away, but Jane Anne was relentless. Her feelings were not very fine. She spoke openly of things another girl would hardly have whispered. She repeated the question impatiently.

"No," said the other, driven to bay and showing fight, as even the gentlest creatures will. "Yo' can have him an welcome. Yo' did draw him from me, an yo' can keep him, but, oh, anwel, anwel, I did lov' him, and I do now whateffer. An look yo', Jane Anne Jones, 'twas me he did lov' the first."

"Well, then," said Jane Anne, who all this time had been maturing a plan in her mind, "I ain't goin to marry Johnnie George neither. I don't want other folks' chaps, noa indeed, an if yo' doesn't have him now somebody else will, maybe a gypsy 'ooman. An he have got a 'stifacat, soa he could easy have the names changed an yo' be married next week. Now us will find him an tell him."

Johnnie George's consent was a minor detail which Jane Anne did not take into consideration. He was playing in a cocoanut shy while Jane Anne had been having her fortune told. Jane Anne brought him out, and he found himself face to face with his late sweetheart. It was an awkward moment. Jane Anne alone was collected and calm as usual. The orchestrone burst noisily into the "Sweethearts' Valse," and Johnnie George giggled nervously to hide his embarrassment.

"Look yo' here, Johnnie George," began his fiancee, "I ben thinkin o' things a bit, an now I come to the point. I 'ont marry yo', but here's your ole sweetheart ready to have yo'—yo' be, bain't you?"—she said, turning to the girl, who did not answer. She was crying quietly and would have run away had not Jane Anne's hand lain heavy on her arm. "Well, she be," continued Jane Anne, who under other circumstances would have made a splendid champion for her sex. "An, Johnnie George, yo've got that there 'stifacat, so yo' can jest get the name changed an get married right off, an I doan't bear yo' no malice, Johnnie George. What I be doing iss for your good, an yo' shall have that eight day clock with the likeness of the Prince o' Wales on the door I wass buy. An mind yo'," she said to the fair haired girl, "yo' see he do bring home his wages an take off his boots 'fore he do sit down to the fire o' nights." The two, who had listened to this exhortation in mute silence, continued staring at each other when Jane Anne had left them and disappeared in the crowd. The man was the first to find his tongue. His ideas worked slowly, but he had comprehended what Jane Anne wanted him to do. His old sweetheart was very comely; perhaps he had even thought regretfully of her when courting the more practical, stronger minded Jane Anne. Certainly Jane Anne had been masterful. She had hardly let him have a drink the whole day. He did not think he would enjoy life much with her always at his elbow.

"Shall we do as she did say, me dear?" he asked the girl bashfully.

"I be willin if yo' be," said she, whose love partook of that divine quality which "beareth all things, endureth all things."

"Then us 'ull wed," said he, with economical thoughts of the marriage certificate in his pocket.

It was beginning to rain when Jane Anne left the fair. Brilliant lights flared on the shows, and as she left the town behind her the noise of the shouts and laughter and oaths died away, but she could still hear the ceaseless blatant music of the orchestrone as she made her way up the hill. There was moisture upon her face for which the rain was not accountable, but she brushed the tears roughly away.

"She'd 'a' died if she wass not marry him," she muttered to herself, "a poor nesh body like her. An, 'deed to goodness, I do hope he'll behave proper, for he do want a 'ooman wi' sense after him."

"I be main glad to have yo' back," said the mistress when, wet and very weary, she arrived at the farm. "An where be Johnnie George?"

"I have gived him the chuck, an I don't want to hear no more o' him," retorted Jane Anne impatiently, but she took the ailing baby gently from its tired mother and rocked it tenderly in her strong young arms. "I wass have my fortune say," she said after awhile, "an the 'ooman did say I wass marryin a dark man, an Johnnie George be fair, so I did leave him."

The mistress was not quite satisfied with this explanation, but she was a wise woman and said no more to her handmaid. She remarked later to her husband, "I dunnot understan Jane Anne, but Johnnie George have lost more in her than he do know."—Longman's Magazine.

M'KINLEY VISITS CATHOLICS.

President and Secretary Cheered When They Appear at University.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—President McKinley, accompanied by Secretary Long, visited the Catholic University, the professors and students greeting them with applause. Rector Conaty made a speech of welcome to the president on his first visit to the university, explaining the purposes and aims of the institution. "The cross which surmounts our building," he said, "is indicative of our religious faith, and the flag which floats to the breeze beside it is indicative of our national spirit. We are Catholics, holding our authority as an institution from the pontifical constitution granted to us by the holy father who founded this university, and we are Americans, obtaining our legal existence from the statutes of this district. Under this roof minds are taught t love the cross and reverence the flag. Catholic Americans, we are taught and we teach loyalty to God as the source of loyalty to the republic."

President McKinley said: "I have been glad to note building after building rising on these grounds in the last half dozen years, and I extend to you my cordial congratulations. This nation is in advance of every other nation of the world in the matter of educational advantages and opportunities, and no nation in the world is in greater need of educated young men. They are the pillars of strength to this republic, and we need them, it seems to me, never more than at this hour."

After the presentation the president and party were escorted by Mgr. Conaty and Dr. Garrigan through the different buildings, and were afterwards entertained for some little time at the Pines, the rector's house.

WILL FLY PENNANT IN EUROPE

Rodgers to Re-Establish a Naval Station in Eastern Waters.

New York, June 4.—A special to the Tribune from Washington says that Rear-Admiral Frederick Rodgers has been selected to re-establish the European station, according to the general understanding at the navy department, and will probably fly his pennant from the new battleship Kearsarge in the English channel before the end of August. At the final inspection of the battleship the first of this week by Admiral Rodgers this information was imparted to the officers of the ship, and they were too delighted to keep their good fortune as secret as the navy department wished for a month or two, at least. The choice of the Kearsarge as flagship of the European fleet is regarded as particularly appropriate, as she will create a good impression concerning the latest products of American naval ingenuity, including the superimposed turrets and electrical auxiliaries. Admiral Rodgers is also regarded as well fitted to command this important station, which was abandoned for lack of ships just before war was declared two years ago, and on which no American pennant has since been displayed except that of Admiral Dewey last year. The other vessels of the fleet, except the Albany, which has just been commissioned in English waters, have not yet been selected, and it is possible that no others can be spared until next fall, when the admiral will naturally wish to cruise into the Mediterranean. By that time, unless the porte in the meantime pays the promised missionary indemnity, the command will be strengthened until capable of making a considerable display of force.

Many Digging Gold at Nome.

Seattle, Wash., June 4.—J. C. Kurtz and Norman Smith, who left Cape Nome March 16, two months later than any other arrivals, reached here on the Bertha. They made the trip overland, and caught the Bertha at Kodiak. They report that several thousand men are already at work on the partly frozen beach and taking out good pay. Several new pay streaks have been found and a number of rich quartz strikes are reported. The miners have organized and fixed the amount of beach territory each man shall have. Every claim of any value in the entire country has been staked and restaked, and they figure that it will take a year's legal work to establish the ownership.

Neely to Be Taken to Cuba.

New York, June 4.—C. F. W. Neely, the Napoleon of finance of the postal system of Cuba, will be tried in that island, under Spanish law, on the charge of robbing the government. Gov. Roosevelt announced that he had granted the extradition demanded by Gov.-Gen. Wood through the war department. Neely, who at first furnished $20,000 cash bail under the criminal charges, and afterward was committed to Ludlow street jail in default of $50,000 bail additional in a civil suit to recover $47,000 alleged embezzled funds, has fought the extradition proceedings on the ground that Cuba is not a part of the United States.

Rathbone Must Stay in Cuba.

Havana, June 4.—The rumors having reached the authorities that Mr. Rathbone intended leaving Cuba, he was notified that his presence was absolutely required in Havana until the investigation into the postal affairs had been completed. The postal officials now in charge state that there are most cogent reasons why Mr. Rathbone should remain in Cuba.

Blow Open Safe in a Bank.

New Lisbon, Wis., June 4.—The Bank of New Libson, owned by W. H. H. Cash, was robbed of several thousand dollars, entrance being made through a back window. The front of the safe was blown out with nitro-glycerine.

Skin Diseases

When the excretory organs fail to carry off the waste material from the system, there is an abnormal accumulation of effete matter which poisons and clogs the blood, and it becomes sour and acid.

This poison is carried through the general circulation to all parts of the body, and upon reaching the skin surface there is a redness and eruption; and by certain peculiarities we recognize Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Salt Rheum, Psoriasis, Erysipelas and many other skin troubles, more or less severe. While the skin is the seat of irritation, the real disease is in the blood. Medicated lotions and powders may allay the itching and burning, but never cure, no matter how long and faithfully continued, and the condition is often aggravated and skin permanently injured by their use.

The disease is more than skin deep; the entire circulation is poisoned.

The many preparations of arsenic, mercury, potash, etc., not only do not cure skin diseases, but soon ruin the digestion and break down the constitution.

S. S. S., nature's own remedy, made of roots, herbs and barks, of great purifying and tonical properties, quickly and effectually cures blood and skin troubles, because it goes direct to the root of the disease and stimulates and restores normal, healthy action to the different organs, cleanses and enriches the blood, and thus relieves the system of all poisonous secretions. S. S. S. cures permanently because it leaves none of the original poison to referment in the blood and cause a fresh attack.

SSS

Healthy blood is necessary to preserve that clear, smooth skin and beautiful complexion so much desired by all. S. S. S. can be relied upon with certainty to keep the blood in perfect order. It has been curing blood and skin diseases for half a century; no other medicine can show such a record.

S. S. S. contains no poisonous minerals—is purely vegetable and harmless.

Our medical department is in charge of physicians of large experience in treating blood and skin diseases, who will take pleasure in aiding by their advice and direction all who desire it. Write fully and freely about your case; your letters are held in strictest confidence. We make no charge whatever for this service. Our book on Blood and Skin Diseases will be sent free upon application.

ARE LOYAL TO PARTY.

Those politicians who are counting on any noticeable defection from the republican ranks, between now and next November, on account of republican disagreement with this or that item of the legislation or administrative policy of the past three years, says The St. Paul Pioneer Press, are apt to make very sufficient allowances for the spirit of loyalty to party, for patriotic reasons, which has never in the history of American politics been stronger than among the republicans of today.

When the said politicians hear a republican contending for a cessation of the war in the Philippines or denouncing the Porto Rican tariff or "cussing" the delay of congress in enacting anti-trust legislation or clamoring for the recognition of the Boer republics, or getting into a sweat because President McKinley's interpretation of the canteen law is different from that of the W. C. T. U., they will exultingly claim that disgruntled republican's vote as sure to be counted on their side in the coming contest.

The sanguine Bryanites continally forget that the republican party stands for a vast deal more than the expansion policy alone, or for the constitutional power of congress to govern our territories as it deems best alone, or the attitude of neutrality in the Boer war alone, or the anti-trust movement alone, or for any one of a hundred other beneficent causes alone. The republican party stands, in the first place, for every principle of unity, of free individual opportunity of sound finance and wholesome industrial development, which has contributed to make our union strong and great. It stands, next, like a rock, in opposition to every one of the visionary schemes, rotten theories and demonstrated untruths which are customarily included under the name of Bryanism. So, although republicans in considerable numbers may dissent from the party position on the points named, and on others—exercising in such dissent their undoubted privilege as freemen, and losing no respect among their fellow republicans by their independence—they are not going over to the democracy because they cannot have their way on all points. Not, at least, so long as the democratic party follows the lead of William J. Bryan.

A case in point is that of the Portland "Oregonian." No republican paper in the country, probably, has differed with the McKinley administration on more points, or has been more open and forceful in its criticisms of the president and the present congress, than this journalistic Boanerges of the Pacific Coast. Particularly has it been severe in its strictures on the Porto Rico tariff and on everything connected with the enactment of that measure. But this is what it says in part, in reply to those who condemn it because it still supports the party responsible for that act:

"The question in this case is, which of the two parties—for one or the other must control—is the party that can be trusted, more rationally, with the direction of the affairs of the country? The country is afraid of the Bryan party, and it has reason to be. There is much is the course of the republican party that it does not approve; but these are trifling matters compared with the deadly menace of the anarchistic spirit, the collapse of finance and industry, the interruption of national and individual prosperity, the surrender of the principle of national growth and expansion, the black death to business at home, and the degradation of the country before the world—all of which belongs to the programe of the transformed-deformed country that goes, unfortunately, under the democratic name. It certainly is not difficult to see why men who find fault with much in the policy and action of the republican party yet may oppose the efforts of the democratic party to obtain the ascendant in the government."

The "Pioneer Press" ventures the prediction that where the "Oregonian" stands will be found standing next November, very nearly the whole number of dissatisfied republicans upon whom the Bryanites are counting for reinforcements. With the republican phalanx, too, will be found standing a countless number of voters who, under various delusions, voted in 1896 for the Nebraska "spellbinder," but who have been awakened by the logic of events to the soundness of republican contentions and the real perils which lurk in Bryanism.

WAUSAU RECORD FOR WHITEHEAD

Says He Is a Man of Ability and Judgment and Would Make a Good Governor.

The Wausau Daily Record of May 31 ran a two column sketch with a cut of John M. Whitehead. Including an autobiography the Record says:

"The subject of this sketch has not been an office-holder or office-seeker, and his public record is not therefore a long one. He has served on the county board of Rock county, as a member from the Fourth ward of the city of Janesville and has been a member of the state senate since 1896, at which time he received 7,105 votes to 4,725 cast for his opponent, W. W. Reed.

"During his service in the state senate Mr. Whitehead has developed abilities as a legislator which have won him a place among the acknowledged leaders of that body. There is not an ounce of presumption in the man, and I am strongly of the opinion that he has changed little since the days when he was willing to wheel bricks to earn money for his schooling. He is a plain, earnest, conscientious man with good judgment. He stands six feet and one inch in height and weighs 225 pounds, and every inch and every pound is manly and sincere. The measures which have met with most general approval from the public during the past four years have been ably supported by him in the senate, in point of fact he has come to be considered the "father" of several important bills. The law establishing the tax commission, which is intended to equalize the burden of taxation and, particularly, to ascertain what proportion of the public burden the corporations should pay, was championed by him from the start, as were also other bills that were intended to bring about needed reforms.

"Senator Whitehead is not a poser or a spectacular personage. He does not deal in the glittering periods of lurid oratory, nor does he advertise himself after the manner of the greatest three ring circus on earth, but he can be relied upon to perform more than he promises every time. It may not be out of place to remark that he is a friend of the Hon. Robert M. LaFollette without being an enemy of other leading republicans, and that he believes that the whole is greater than any one of its parts. He is not, therefore, a faction man."

Wheat: The market was dull early, but later became more active and closed strong. There were no cables, owing to holiday abroad. Shipments were liberal and there was a large decrease on passage. Visible decreased 51,000. The northwest had scattered showers over Sunday, but they were generally considered of no real benefit. Cash demand was fair and sales were about 100,000 bu., mostly to millers. Primary receipts were large and clearances fair.

Corn was strong all day. Cash demand was good and sales exceeded 400,000 bu. Country sales were light. There was a small decrease on passage and a decrease of 409,000 in visible. Bull operators were free buyers again. Primary receipts were lighter than a year ago. Clearances also were small.

Oats were quiet and dull at close. Elevator people sold and shippers bought. Visible increased 255,000 bu.

Receipts of hogs at eight points were 68,000 against 67,000 last year.

Provisions were strong, active and higher. Offerings were light and shipping demand good.

Papered with Bonds.

Wall paper having an apparent value of $400,000, but in reality worth nothing, decorates the study of a New York business man. It is composed of thousands of 6 per cent bonds, engraved and printed at a cost of $2,500, for a company which, failing to attract investors, died before it could be floated.

Golf in Singapore.

"Singapore is only 60 miles from the equator. It averaged about 82 degrees at midnight. I played golf once, just nine holes, and then quit, and I was a spectacle—fairly wet through. We played over a Chinese graveyard, around the lunatic asylum and hospital, and finished on the lawn of the orphan asylum. The links are very sporty, the tombs serving for bunkers and other hazards, while a ball driven over the wall of the lunatic asylum is lost and you lose stroke and distance. The tombs are slowly being hacked to pieces by the wild efforts of the players to get the balls out of the crevices in the bricks."—Collier's Weekly.

Reckoning Carloads in Siberia.

It is somewhat remarkable and eminently suggestive to notice the prevailing way the carrying capacity of railway cars is commonly reckoned in Siberia. One carload is commonly reckoned as eight horses or forty men, not as in America, 20,000 or 40,000 pounds. Such nomenclature came naturally from the idea that the proper use of railways among a warlike nation is to carry men, horses or munitions of war, rather than merchandise. Fortunately the mission of the railway has ever been for peace and for the benefit of mankind rather than for its destruction.

Victor Hugo's Grandchildren.

The grandchildren of Victor Hugo seem to have a penchant for divorce. A few years ago Mlle. Jeanne Hugo, who had married a son of Alphonse Daudet, procured a divorce, and she has since wedded a son of the famous Dr. Charcot. And now her brother, George Hugo, having induced his wife to consent to a divorce, is about to marry her cousin, who is herself the divorced wife of a well known writer.

Looks Like an Englishman.

Says the London Graphic: "The king of Portugal, whom we have to thank for the friendly relations we still maintain with the little kingdom, is English in his tastes. His grandfather was a first cousin of the prince consort, and he himself is by no means a Portuguese in appearance, being a stout blonde man with a crop of fine curly hair."

CONNECTS CHICAGO WITH JANESVILLE

TWO BIG COMPANIES FORMED TO BUILD ELECTRIC LINES.

First Stretch to be Built From Sterling to Rockford and from Thence Along the Rock River to Janesville—Work of Construction to Begin at Once.

There will be two more links in the chain of electric railways girding the counties contiguous to Chicago, says Sunday's Chicago Chronicle, took legal form yesterday in the incorporation at Springfield of the Illinois and Rock River Railway Company, with $1,000,000 capital, and the Chicago, Fox and the Chicago, Fox and Geneva Lakes Electric Railway Company, with $100,000 capital.

In the first named enterprise the incorporators and first board of directors are G. E. Plumb, A. F. Milliken, Thomas C. McMillan, Ephraim Banning and Thomas Banning of Chicago. The outlined route is from Rockford to Rock Falls, Ill., with branch lines in the cities of Dixon, Oregon and Sterling; also a branch line from Rockford to the state line between Illinois and Wisconsin; a branch line from Rockford to Waukegan and branches to Cairo, Galena and Chicago.

Ephraim Banning said yesterday that the survey of the road would begin within a few days and that the first stretch to be built would be sixty-four miles along Rock river, from Stirling to Rockford. It is hoped to have this part of the road opened by next spring.

To Reach Janesville Finally

Later the line will be extended north into Wisconsin, from Beloit to Janesville. The southern terminus has not been decided upon, but the entire main line will be close to the Rock river for about 125 miles.

Ultimately it is the purpose of the promoters to extend the road from Janesville to Milwaukee, also from Rockford east through Elgin and west through Freeport to Galena.

"There is plenty of capital behind the project," said Mr. Banning. "It probably will be an overhead trolley system, although compressed air is a possibility The motors will have to be of extra power as we expect to do both freight and passenger business. Several of the large steam railway lines such as the Illinois Central, Burlington, Chicago & Northwestern, and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, will be crossed by our line, and from this source alone we expect considerable business in transferring freight."

Network of Electric Lines.

Between forty and fifty companies have already obtained charters at Springfield to build trolley lines in the northern tier of Illinois counties. Many of these incorporated concerns obtained their papers before the new law requiring a tax on capital went into force. Probably 90 per cent of the whole have never progressed beyond the preliminary stage. But now there are active surveys in progress in every county in the northern part of the state and the southern tier of Wisconsin counties. All these trolley lines aim to connect with those already built in the towns and villages surrounding Chicago, forming a continuous network of lines.

WOODMEN HERE WILL PARADE TONIGHT

IN HONOR OF THEIR PICNIC TOMORROW.

Imperial Band Will Head a Delegation from Janesville That Will Number Probably Five Hundred—Many Trains Will Pass Through the Bower City During the Day.

This city will be well represented tomorrow at Madison. The attraction is the annual Modern Woodmen picnic. Over the Milwaukee road tomorrow morning a special train will leave Janesville and it is expected that at least five hundred people will visit the Capitol City from here. A round trip rate of $1.20 is offered on both roads out of this city. The Imperial band will go with Florence Camp.

Railroad officials believe they are prepared to handle the invading masses to Madison. The St. Paul company will run thirteen special trains, and from a canvass of the agents along its lines estimates that these thirteen specials will take 9,000 people. These with the five regular trains will make eighteen in all, and the number of coaches in these trains will be 155. To carry lunch baskets, bicycles, etc., twelve baggage cars will be employed. These eighteen trains are all due to arrive before noon.

The Chicago & Northwestern will probably run twenty special trains beside the twenty nine regulars, and with their 180 coaches or more these are likely to bring to Madison at least 12,000 people. The company's yards on that day will be given over solely to passenger traffic. Freight business will have to stand aside.

Woodmen Attention!

As many Woodmen as possible are requested to meet tonight at 8 o'clock at West Side Odd Fellows hall to take part in the parade, also to meet at the hall tomorrow morning to march to the train headed by the band.

Tickets are on sale at C Spencer's shoe store on the bridge also at R. Hockett's bakery, 107 West Milwaukee street.

Headquarters have been established for Florence Camp at the Congregational church where meals will be served at 25 cents. By order of committee.

COLORED MEN PLAY NEBRASKA INDIANS

Unique Base Ball Game This Afternoon Attracted a Good Sized Crowd to Athletic Park.

At Athletic Park this afternoon was called one of the most unique games of base ball that was ever played in the Bower City. The contesting teams were the Nebraska Indians and the Columbia Giants. The game was called at 3:30 o'clock before a fair sized crowd. The Nebraska Indian team is composed of players every one in which flows true Indian blood. They are genuine red men and this fact is easily to be seen. They are a well informed lot on the game of base ball, being well trained in all tricks of the game. The Columbia Giants are composed entirely of colored men. There is not a poor player in the entire Giant team and the game this afternoon gave the best of satisfaction. The same two teams will try for honors in this city next Wednesday afternoon.

UNSAFE SWING STAGE CAUSED TROUBLE

Painters Quit Work This Morning Rather Than Work on Swing Stage Thought Unsafe.

Rather than risk their lives on what they alleged to be an unsafe swing stage, painters this morning in the employ of Contractor Scofield, quit their jobs. The stage on which the men objected working on was swung in front of the South Main street block occupied by Putnam Bros. Last week the painting of the outside of the building was awarded to Mr. Scofield by the owner of the block, J. M. Bostwick. One of the men who left his work this morning said:

"Not for ten dollars a day would I risk my life working on that swing stage. It is not strong and is liable to go to pieces any time. We men quit our jobs because the kick that we all made about the unsafe condtion of the stage did not please our boss. We expect to go to Geneva this evening where work awaits us."

LOUIS HERRING DIED YESTERDAY

ALONE MOST OF TIME DURING HIS ILLNESS.

Found Half Unconscious on the Floor by Two of His Neighbors—Was Well Known Character and a Bachelor—Funeral Services Held This Afternoon.

After an illness of several days' duration Louis Herring died yesterday at two o'clock at his home, 212 South Main street. He was a bachelor, and during his illness has been alone the greater part of the time. Two German friends were with him when he died. Mr. Herring has no relatives in this country, and the personal belongings and some property that he leaves is now in the hands of W. J. McIntyre, who is public administrator.

For several weeks Mr. Herring has not been in the best of health. Being one of those whole souled and good natured Germans, he made no complaint. He resided alone and has for many years led the life of a gardener. Although he was addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating liquors, he at no time made life disagreeable for others who resided near him. Last week his condition grew serious and friends summoned Drs. St. John, Whiting, Mills and Gibson.

It took the attending physicians but a short time to see that the afflicted man was in a serious condition. The too frequent use of liquor had unbalanced his mind and he was not responsible for his actions. It was then decided to take him to the county farm, but he grew worse so rapidly that the doctors decided that he was not able to make the overland trip. Thursday evening two neighbors, George Rentschler and William Rogers, went to the Herring residence and there found Mr. Herring on the floor. He was then seriously ill and was alone.

Mr. Herring was born in Pennsylvania about fifty years ago. At the age of three years he came to Janesville with his parents and in this city he has ever since made his home. From the residence this afternoon at four o'clock funeral services were held, conducted by the Rev. W. A. Hall. The interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

WORK OF THE 56TH CONGRESS

The First Session of Which Is Now Practically Closed.

SESSION WAS INTERESTING.

Financial Special Act—Roberts and Clark Cases—Appropriations Approximately $700,000,000—St. Louis Exposition—A Complete Review.

Washington, June 4.—The record of the first session of the Fifty-sixth congress is now practically closed. Our new territorial possessions have received much attention, and while there is no definite action as to the Philippines or Cuba, a form of government and a means of raising revenue have been provided for Puerto Rico and a comprehensive territorial form of government has been given to Hawaii. The financial act has made important changes in the laws relating to the parity of metals, the bonded indebtedness, national banks and the security of the treasury by a gold reserve. The Nicaraguan canal bill has passed the house and is on the calendar of the senate ready for attention when congress reconvenes. The anti-trust bill is similarly advanced; the anti-trust constitutional amendment has a defeat recorded against it. The Pacific cable measure has passed the senate and is awaiting final action in the house.

The exclusion of Brigham H. Roberts from a seat in the house because of his polygamous status, the refusal of the senate to admit Mr. Quay on the appointment of the governor of Pennsylvania and the sensational charges, investigations and developments in the senate in the case of Mr. Clark of Montana have added some exciting personal phases to the session. Investigations have been prolific, including the inquiry into the Coeur d'Alene mining riots in Idaho, the various inquiries on polygamy growing out of the Roberts case and more recently the senate investigation of the postal and other irregularities in Cuba.

The total of appropriations cannot yet be stated with exactness, as five bills are pending, but is approximately $700,000,000 for the session.

The senate in executive session has been occupied to a considerable extent with important treaties. Of these the treaties with Great Britain and Germany closing the tripartite government in Samoa and awarding to the United States the island of Tutuila, with its valuable harbor of Pago-Pago, has been ratified, while the commercial reciprocity treaties with France and the British West Indian islands and the Hay-Pauncefote treaty concerning the inter-oceanic canal go over without action.

Considerable general legislation is carried on appropriation bills. These provisions include the amendment to the military academy bill making the commanding general of the army a lieutenant-general and the adjutant-general of the army a major-general, also the amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $5,000,000 for the St. Louis exposition. Both of these bills are still pending.

Poor Man.

Perry Patetic—"Please lady, help a poor man wat's been outer work fer more'n a year." Kind Lady—"Here's a quarter, poor man. Can't you find anything at all to do?" Perry Patetic—"No, lady, it's so long since I done a job o' work dat I don't tink I'd reckernize one now if it come up an' took it's hat off ter me."

Seamen's Fight at an End.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 4.—A settlement was reached between the owners of schooners in the coarse freight carrying trade and the seamen in their employ. Both sides claim victory. The thirty-five schooners which have been tied up in the Milwaukee river will now prepare to sail. According to the scale the seamen will get the $2 a day rate for which they contended, and in event of a change in wage conditions this scale will be subject to the rates in vogue at Chicago.

Martial Law in Force.

Berlin, June 4.—The excitement and street riots in Konitz as a result of the death of the lad Winter, attributed to Jews, continue in spite of the active interference of the military. Martial law has been proclaimed there. Everybody must leave the streets at 9 p. m., and the military have been instructed to use their rifles if again attacked. Capt. Hesse and Commissioner of Police Block were seriously wounded last night by stones.

Presbyterian Leaves the Faith.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 4.—Rev. John M. McIlvaine of the Brick Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue, New York, has accepted a call to the pastorate of Calvary Episcopal church of this city and will assume charge at an early date.

RESIST GOLD COAST REBELS.

Kumassie Said to Have Been Relieved—Situation Serious.

London, June 4.—The colonial office has received a dispatch from Cape Coast Castle, dated May 31, saying it is believed there that Capt. Hall, with a relief party, entered Kumassie May 26. The governor, Sir Frederick Mitchell Hodgson, with the sick, wounded and refugees, was expected to arrive at Fumsu May 30. Troops, it is added, have been concentrated at Fumsu to overcome any possible resistance by the rebels, who are reported to be to the north.

Despite the optimistic tone of the dispatch from Cape Coast Castle it reveals a somewhat serious situation, inasmuch as apart from the possibility of Gov. Hodgson's party being cut off by the enemy north of Fumsu, it practically announces the evacuation of Kumassie, which will be interpreted by the hostile tribes as a British retreat, and thus tend to spread the rising. The rainy season is now in full swing and no punitive expedition can be successfully undertaken until the autumn.

It is understood that Capt. Hall has with him a force of 300 men, and that altogether 3,000 men have been marching to the relief of the beleaguered town.

The Spectator, commenting upon the situation there, says: "We hope authority will soon be re-established. Nigeria has been partially stripped of troops to provide a relieving force, and if the latter were defeated or even checked we might have the whole of western Africa to reconquer."

A Natural Question.

Four-year-old Harry, noticing that the clock had stopped, asked his father a question that has puzzled some older folks: "Papa, when the clock stops, does time stop?"

Fears Miaco Was Drugged.

New York, June 4.—That Thomas E. Miaco, the well known theatrical man, who died in a New York hospital, was drugged and robbed is the belief of his nephew, Clark Bali. He made the statement to Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon, that his uncle was never without $10,000 or $12,000 in his pockets. When Miaco was found he had only $400. Robert Fulton of Chicago, said he saw Miaco in Chicago May 21 and at that time Miaco had $12,000 in a pocketbook. The authorities are making a rigid investigation in the case, but have learned nothing more so far. Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon held an autopsy on Miaco's body at Merritt's undertaking establishment on the strength of Miaco's ante-mortem statement that he remembered having a drink on Fourteenth street the night he is said to have fallen down the stairway in the Morton house, from the effects of which he died.

Bonds in an Old Magazine.

New York, June 4.—In the contest over the will of the late Robert Bonner, the horse-owner and publisher, Robert Edwin Bonner testified that after his father's death he found $76,000 worth of bonds between the leaves of an old magazine in a bookcase. He said that his father had told him where they were concealed.

EIGHT KILLED IN WRECKS.

Singular Accident to Freight Train Near Hamilton, Ohio.

BODIES COVERED BY SHROUDS.

Cattle and Hogs Killed in Numbers and Piled High—One Man Killed in Nebraska—Two Dead on the Lake Erie & Western in Ohio.

Hamilton, Ohio, June 4.—Five lives were put out in the twinkling of an eye in an unusual accident on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Indianapolis railroad at McGonigle's station, eight miles west of this city. The dead: Tim Mahoney, fireman, 25 years old, unmarried, Hamilton, head struck, crushed; John Starkey, brakeman, 22 years old, unmarried, Rushville, Ind., body crushed; Ambrose Smith, 21 years old, unmarried, papermaker, Hamilton, body and head crushed and badly mangled; unknown man, about 40 years old, crushed between bumpers; unknown boy, 15 years old, crushed between bumpers. The injured: Samuel Clover, engineer, 40 years old, married, Hamilton, hand scalded, back wrenched and right hip bruised.

A remarkable and startling coincidence was an attendant feature of the work and has caused many superstitious persons who viewed the scene to shake their heads in wonderment, while the fell meaning of the portent is pointed out by others who believe death will soon be again busy with those who entered its ghastly sphere of influence. Lying across the body of Brakeman Starkey, whose mangled remains were the first ones found by the rescuers, was a new burial robe ready for adjustment to its last uses, and besides the scarred remnants of the other four victims lay in waiting similar gowns for the coffin. The accident occurred to east-bound freight No. 93, from Indianapolis to Cincinnati, in charge of Conductor Lightsinger of Indianapolis. The momentum of the train pushed several cars past the engine and piled them up in chaos. Eleven cars were derailed, five of which contained cattle and hogs. Scores of the animals were killed and many others were wounded and ran about, bellowing with agony. Property loss, $5,000.

Fatal Collision on Burlington.

Alliance, Neb., June 4.—A disastrous rear-end collision occurred on the Burlington, three miles west of here. Engineer Hunting was instantly killed, Fireman Johnson very seriously injured and Brakeman Ellis badly hurt. Freight train No. 30 was running in two sections and the second section crashed into the first. It is thought Engineer Hunting fell asleep or was unable to control his engine. The property loss is heavy.

Two Killed, One Badly Hurt.

Lima, Ohio, June 4.—As an eastbound freight train on the Lake Erie & Western road was running at full speed about eighteen miles this side of Sandusky City the tires came off of one of the driving wheels, ditching the engine and piling about twenty cars on top of it. Fireman Enoch Bowsher and Head Brakeman J. W. Purtell, who happened to be in the engine, were crushed to death and Engineer Harry Bell had a leg broken and was seriously hurt internally. The men killed and Engineer Bell lived here.

Two Union Men Are Killed.

Atchison, Kan., June 4.—Two men were killed in a quarrel over the labor question. W. D. Ranier had recently taken a union man's place as a result of a strike, and James Burtchett and Call Outhout, union men, called him an uncomplimentary name. Ranier told the two men that he intended to kill them. He walked half a mile to his home, loaded a double-barreled shotgun, returned and shot both men in the face and head, killing them instantly. He loaded his shotgun again and asked several friends of the two victims if they were dead. Being assured that they were, he went to his home, shaved off his mustache and started for Missouri. A posse followed him and arrested him at Rushville. He was brought back to Atchison.

Safeguards Against Enteric Fever.

MORE TROOPS FOR MAC ARTHUR.

Root to Consult with Otis and Schwan About Sending Cavalry.

New York, June 3.—A special to the Times from Washington says that when Gens. Otis and Schwan arrive here there will be a conference between them and Secretary Root in reference to the question of sending more troops to the Philippines. Gen. MacArthur, Gen. Otis' successor, has been urging for some time that he should have more cavalry. The war department is now convinced that his request should be complied with, but nothing will be done until Secretary Root has obtained the views of Gens. Otis and Schwan.

Three cavalry regiments will be sent. The war department has no idea yet what regiments will be selected. This is one of the points on which the advice of Gens. Otis and Schwan will be sought. It is quite certain that they will not be sent until after the middle of June. The department would like, if possible, to send one of the regiments now in Cuba. It is considered desirable that the soldiers in the Philippines should be as far as possible, men accustomed to service in the tropics, who will have nothing to learn, to the end that the campaign may be as sharp and short as possible. But no regiments can be taken from Cuba until after the elections at earliest and the elections will not take place until June 16.

When the regulars are sent it will be possible to begin the sending home of volunteers, and the probability is that three regiments will be sent home, at once, the cavalry taking their places.

Mrs. Gladstone Near Death.

London, June 4.—It is announced that Mrs. Gladstone is in a semi-conscious condition and that her strength is declining steadily.

Caucasus Alarmed at Plague.

St. Petersburg, May 31 (via Paris, June 3).—The mayor of Tiflis, in the Caucasus, is greatly alarmed over the plague cases reported from that district, and Prince Oldenburg, who has had great experience in fighting plague in Turkestan and on the Caucasian border, has been dispatched in secret to the Caucasus to supervise sanitary measures. A strict policy of secrecy is being followed in connection with the plague outbreak. The government is withholding the name of the spot where the plague appeared, and the entire Russian press has received stringent circular orders to publish not even the bare facts, to say nothing of any particulars, regarding the expected epidemic of the bubonic scourge.

Every day adds to the list of deaths attributed to heart failure. If the truth were told the bulk of these deaths might be written down as due to stomach failure. For it is in the failure of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, that "weak" heart, "weak" lungs, "weak" nerves and other forms of physicial deterioration having their beginning. The man whose stomach is sound, who can digest and assimilate the food he eats, and so keep each organ of the body well nourished, is the man who is least liable to collapse under the sudden weakness of some vital organ.

The preservation of health which follows the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, is chiefly due to the fact that it perfectly and permanently cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, purifies the blood and increases the blood supply of the body. Weak people will find in this medicine a sure means of strength.

"I was under doctors' care for quite a time," writes Mr. J. F. Kidd, of Parmleysville, Wayne Co., Ky. "They had almost given me up, and my suffering was very great. My pulse was weak, breath short and I had severe pains in back, head and legs. Had palpitation of heart, and for eleven months I was not able to do a day's work. I purchased five bottles of Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and by the time the fifth bottle was gone I was a well man."

COMFORTS FOR THE TOURIST

How to Make a Handy Traveling Case and a Neat Shawl Carrier.

BY JEANNETTE DEVOE.

To those who contemplate vacation journeys now is the time to prepare the necessary traveling articles which, though they may seem unnecessary, are a source of much comfort and do away with those little annoyances incidental to the disorderly habit of not having a proper place for things. An article that can be made at comparatively small cost and which will bring daily satisfaction is a case for toilet articles.

To make the case use strong unbleached linen. Cut a strip 25 inches long and 10 inches wide for the outside of the case; two strips 20 inches long and 3 inches wide for the side pieces; one strip 8 inches long and 3 inches wide for the pockets and two strips 10 inches long and 2 inches wide to hold brushes and manicure articles.

Should the case be intended for the use of a gentleman add extra straps for shaving material, military brushes, etc.

Lay the side pieces on the case three inches from one end, leaving a two inch lap at the other end, and sew. The seam should be on the outside of the case. Bind all edges with tape that matches the linen. Bind the edges of the pocket and straps in the same way. Three inches from the back edge of the case stitch one end of each strap in place, arranging them so that they will be two inches apart. Measure the space required for the slender toilet pieces and make a stitching so that each article will fit snugly in the space apportioned to it.

The pocket should be sewed on in the same way, and in addition one long edge should be stitched to the case, thus making several pockets for tooth powder bottle, soap box, hairbrushes, etc.

On the front edge of the case sew three sets of tapes or ribbons, allowing ample length for tying around a well filled case. In folding the case turn in the side pieces first and then the short lap on the end of the case, roll snugly and tie with the ribbons.

TRAVELING CASE CLOSED AND OPEN.

Every traveler has experienced the annoyance of shawls and wraps thrown over the arm on a hot, dusty day and the additional burden perhaps of a half dozen umbrellas and canes strapped together and tucked under a tired arm that is on the point of going on a strike. For such experienced martyrs of the summer colony I would suggest a shawl case that will relieve the arm, keep off the grime from garments that one must carry with one, but which are not in use, and also hold those unwieldy umbrellas.

The material employed to make this shawl case is brown sail linen. Cut a length of goods 30 inches long and 20 inches wide for the outside casing and a strip 10 inches long and 7 inches wide for the outside pocket. Hem one long edge of the pocket. Embroider any preferred design on the linen in the old fashioned cross stitch. Sew the pocket on the outside of the case, making an inch fold at the sides and bottom to allow for bulging. To do this properly cut both of the lower corners at right angles and sew the edges together. Over the edge of the pocket place a lap three inches wide and ten inches long, cut the corners round and bind the edges. Sew on a button and an elastic loop.

Make another pocket nine inches wide and 20 inches long for the inside of the case and place above it two straps each six inches long and one inch wide, having two buttonholes. Sew buttons on the pocket.

Two laps, each eight inches wide and 12 inches long, are placed at a distance of five inches from the pocket. On the inside of the case lap and directly under the handle are fastened three straps, each two inches wide and six inches long, and one inch from them are other corresponding straps with buckles. These are to hold the umbrellas. Bind all the edges. Sew leather straps and buckles on the outside lap and a leather handle on the back of the case.

Miss Caroline Lewis Gordon, the daughter of General Gordon of Atlanta, has been in New York for the purpose of making arrangements for her debut as a professional interpreter of negro songs and dialect. Miss Gordon is one of the belles of the south and has ever since the death of Miss Winnie Davis been known as the Daughter of the Confederacy by reason of the affection in which her father is held by his former comrades in the Confederate army.

DAY OF THE FLOUNCE.

It Is Said to Be at Hand—New Fashions In Flowers.

Just now we cannot bear to think of the warm stuffs that we are asked to take note of as the newest things for early fall because it is decidedly too hot to do so, and the thoughts dwell with pleasure on the sheer and thin cottons and other things calculated to rob the summer of its horrors. And they are so very delicate and dainty! No fairy could ask a more diaphanous robe than some of the new stuffs are.

In the very windows where these are exhibited they have to put white muslin behind them to show up the delicate design, and these are most exquisite and, above all, artistic. There is not a single one of these fine lawns and batistes where the figure is not as perfect as a picture of the same blossom on paper would be. Then these fine and delicate lawns are made up in such a way that they gain an added beauty. The amount of lace that can be put on one of these summer gowns is almost incredible. The present fancy is to have the lace put on in the form of a bolero or a figaro. One exquisite lawn had a design of moss rose buds on a ground of pearl gray.

This reminds me to mention something that has often struck my mind that there is a fashion in flowers as well as in furniture and wall paper, to say nothing about the shape of our houses. Just now the rich, red tulips are much in evidence, and the old fashioned stock gilly in its creamy white and its dull crimson compels our attention by the refreshing, spicy odor so familiar in the days of our youth, and we buy great bunches of it and walk on, seeing something more than the flowers. The moss rose had been relegated to oblivion for many years, but now it is seen in the windows of the swellest florists, and, indeed, a moss rose is more beautiful than any other. The pink ones are seen rather oftener than the white ones, but nothing touches my heart like a white one, for my only sister lay in her little coffin almost covered with them. Since then they have been precious to me. Mignonette is also a fashionable flower, and a large bunch of them often takes the place once held sacred to American Beauty roses. And they are such grateful flowers! A little fresh water from time to time will keep them fresh for several days. And their fragrance is so refreshing.

Just now the fashion in the decoration of walls is to have them papered in panels with a pretty pattern of chintz. Mrs. Robert Osborne, whose taste has made her independent again after financial disaster, has fitted up her parlors in panels of a dainty pattern of chintz, where the figures are in a delicate shade of pink and browns, and these are all bordered with a narrow line of gilt molding. The curtains and all the furniture are covered with the chintz, not as slips, but made with the chintz instead of plush or satin. The furniture is all shaped after the old Revolutionary style, and the woodwork is enameled white, picked out with gold, and a more elegant parlor it would be impossible to find.

We will not go into a dissertation on architecture just now, for there are too many other things in the way of summer attire to speak of, and so the cottons for warm days are just like those worn by our ancestors in 1830, with perhaps a trifling difference in the design. There are some pretty basket weaves in khaki colored cotton.

There is no use trying to deny it, for flounces are certainly coming in fashion rapidly. And, after all, why not? They are graceful, and the flounced dress was always a pretty one, except when the shoulders were cut away down over the arm and the waist was nothing to speak of.

I saw a new dress which will soon be seen at Newport, and surely no one could object to that. It is intended for an evening dress, but there is a guimpe furnished with it, and that transforms it into a suitable gown for afternoon functions, as there are long lace sleeves to the guimpe. It is of dotted swiss and has three flounces, each edged with lace, and there are bows at the bottom and on the waist, held by fancy strass buttons.

The skirt is lined with pastel blue taffeta, and the waist is trimmed with the same from the side seams. When it is to be worn as an evening dress, a small gauze scarf is thrown over the shoulders, and when as an afternoon gown the guimpe is worn, and the flowers may be omitted. But flounces there are and will be all this season, and in winter we may be completely smothered in them.

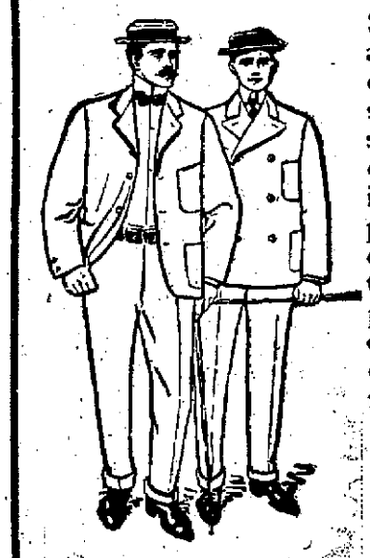
Our $15, $18 and $20 Suits

READY TO PUT RIGHT ON



Should not be compared in any way with the so-called cheap merchant tailored suits that are made from samples and put up in the cheap tailor shops in the cities. Our suits at the above prices are as carefully tailored as suits the legitimate tailors put up at twice the price, all here, ready to try on. If any changes are necessary we have a first-class tailor to make them.

Don't go against the cheap Merchant Tailoring game. . . . .

You get only trash. You have no chance to try on, which every good tailor will tell you you must have to insure a fit. Give cheap tailoring a BLACK EYE. Either buy a first-class MADE-TO-ORDER suit or a first-class READY-TO-WEAR suit. We can furnish either.

We are particularly anxious to show you our Summer Outing Suits. These consist of pant and coat only, $8 00 to $12.00, made in mixed fabrics and striped flannels.

Leave your order with us for Fancy or White Shirts made to your order.
